

Because of a computer failure we have lost the actual address of this ministry, but, from memory, it is in Abia State. However, we first had contact from Okechukwu Ezegbo in late 2008. This young man, along with some others, takes the gospel into remote villages in his area on little motorcycles. While, for a time, we were able to assist, yet, as seems to happen far too frequently in that country, the enemy of our souls has been able to create problems, which, as we know, is something he is very good at doing.

Prayer warriors are greatly needed in this situation; those who, without needing to know details, can enter this battle, trusting the mighty Spirit of Christ to lead them. We have found many times that knowing details can so easily lead us to thinking we know what the problems are, and even to thinking we know what the solutions are. How vain can we get!
